About CUES

Potential is everywhere. Opportunity should be too.

CUES School System serves over 600 Pre-K - 8th grade students across All Saints, Holy Name, and Sacred Heart schools in Omaha. Our mission is rooted in the belief that every child deserves access to a strong education, a caring school community, and the support needed to succeed both in and beyond the classroom.

The CUES model takes a unique approach to education. Students are challenged through strong academics and high expectations, while teachers and staff build relationships that help each child feel known, supported, and encouraged to grow. CUES also provides practical wraparound services that address barriers to learning, including mental and behavioral health support, family engagement, access to essential resources, and community partnerships that strengthen the connection between school, home, and community. Together, these supports help students build confidence, stay engaged in learning, strengthen their skills, and prepare for what comes next.

Across all three schools, CUES is committed to helping students become confident, capable learners while supporting families and strengthening communities. The goal is not only to help students succeed today, but to build a strong foundation for continued growth, greater opportunity, and a future in which they can thrive.

Welcome Jason

CUES Fund is excited to welcome Jason Feldhaus as the new CEO and Executive Director of CUES Fund. Jason brings more than 20 years of experience in nonprofit leadership, human services, and community partnerships supporting children and families.

Opportunity Beyond the Classroom

A strong education is about more than what happens in the classroom. CUES provides programs and partnerships that help remove barriers to learning, support families, and give students the resources they need to thrive.

Student and Family Support Program

Our Student & Family Support team helps students and families navigate challenges and prepare for what comes next. Students receive high school readiness support, scholarship guidance, leadership development, and help overcoming barriers that may affect their education. The program also supports the whole family by connecting parents with resources such as financial education and entrepreneurship courses, while helping families problem-solve practical challenges, including transportation and other needs that can make it difficult for students to get to school and succeed.

Mental Health Services

Students learn best when their mental and emotional health needs are supported. Each CUES school provides students with access to an on-site licensed therapist who can help them work through challenges, build healthy coping skills, strengthen relationships, and manage stress. By providing this support within the school environment, students can receive help when they need it while continuing to feel connected to their teachers, classmates, and school community.

Opportunity Beyond the Classroom

Madonna Ability Alliance

Through our partnership with Madonna, CUES provides additional support for students with specialized learning needs through a program based at Holy Name Catholic School. Students from any of our three schools can access these services when additional support is needed. This partnership allows CUES to better meet students where they are, provide more individualized learning opportunities, and help children with a wider range of abilities learn and grow within the CUES community.

After-School Enrichment

For many CUES families, the school day ends hours before the workday does. Free after-school programs at all three schools provide students with a safe, caring place to complete homework, spend time with peers, and continue learning until their families can pick them up. Through partnerships with Completely KIDS and The Hope Center for Kids, CUES helps working parents know their children are supported and cared for beyond regular school hours.

Opportunity in Action

Meet Chudear CUES Class of 2026

A Community That Carries You Forward

When Chudear Gony joined Sacred Heart School in fourth grade, she was nervous and unsure of where she would fit. It did not take long for Sacred Heart to feel like home.

Teachers and staff helped her feel safe, supported, and part of a community that extended beyond the classroom. For Chudear's family, CUES became a trusted partner, connecting them with resources and opportunities through the Student & Family Support Program.

That sense of community stayed with Chudear as she started Mercy High School in the fall of 2026. Through the CUES Leadership Academy, she built relationships with students from across all three CUES schools before graduation. Thanks to those connections, she entered Mercy already knowing other CUES students who support her through the transition, helping a new school feel a little less unfamiliar.

“CUES is family and community to me,” Chudear shared.

Now, Chudear dreams of becoming a registered nurse so she can help others and give back to her community. CUES continues to encourage that dream as she takes her next steps forward.

Meet Jordan CUES Class of 2022

Building a Path to What Comes Next

Jordan Martinez's journey with CUES began at Holy Name, where he found more than a school. He found what he calls "opportunity and community" — a place where teachers and staff knew his story, encouraged his interests, and helped him see what was possible.

That support continued long after Jordan graduated from CUES in 2022. Through CUES wraparound services, Jordan and his family received guidance as he moved on to Roncalli Catholic High School, explored college options, and prepared for what comes next. CUES also connected his mother, Angelica, with a microbusiness workshop as she worked toward opening her own home healthcare business.

"I graduated from CUES in 2022, and today I'm still part of the CUES community."

Today, Jordan is the first person in his family to attend a four-year college. In August 2026, he began his freshman year at Ripon College in Wisconsin, where he plans to study history, political science, and criminal justice. Hardworking and determined to build a financially stable future, Jordan earned multiple scholarships that cover most of his college costs. He worked part-time at FedEx in Omaha and secured a transfer to Wisconsin so he can continue working while in school and help cover his remaining expenses.

That sense of possibility is growing across his family. As Jordan prepares to begin college, Angelica is taking the final steps toward opening her home healthcare business. For both of them, CUES has been a lasting source of guidance, connection, and opportunity — helping a family turn possibilities into a stronger future.

The CUES Class of 2022 is taking its next big step.

This year, CUES Class of 2022 alumni graduated from high school and are preparing for what comes next. Of the 51 alumni who responded to our recent outreach survey, 70% will be the first in their families to attend college.

The Gathering 2026

A Masterful Tradition Unlike Any Other

Inspired by the tradition and spirit of the Masters Tournament, The Gathering 2026 brought the CUES community together for an unforgettable evening in support of students and families.

Led by Event Chair Jeanie Jones and Honorary Chairs Gerald and Lynn Timmerman, the event raised a record-breaking $1.1 million—the highest total in Gathering history. This extraordinary generosity reflects the commitment of donors, sponsors, volunteers, and friends who believe every student deserves access to a high-quality, faith-centered education and the support needed to thrive.

We are deeply grateful to everyone who helped make the evening a success. Because of you, CUES can continue removing barriers to learning, strengthening families, and building brighter futures for students across All Saints, Holy Name, and Sacred Heart.

The Gathering 2026

Keynote Speaker, Obadiah Laa

From All Saints to a Future in Finance

Obadiah Laa's story with CUES began in a preschool classroom at All Saints Catholic School. But for Obadiah, CUES has never been just about where he went to school.

“CUES has not just impacted me; it has shaped my entire family.”

The son of refugees from South Sudan, Obadiah grew up in a family that believed deeply in the power of education. At All Saints, that belief was met by a community that knew his family, recognized his potential, and stood beside him year after year.

Teachers noticed when he struggled. They celebrated when he succeeded. They challenged him, encouraged him, and helped him develop the confidence and discipline to imagine more for his future.

That foundation opened doors. Obadiah earned a scholarship to Mount Michael Benedictine High School and later enrolled at Creighton University Heider College of Business, where he is studying finance and pursuing a career in banking.

Looking back, he sees a direct line between the child who walked into All Saints and the future he is building today.

“I would not be standing here without All Saints. I would not be at Creighton. I would not be heading into an internship with my eyes set on a career in finance. None of it happens without the foundation I was given through CUES.”

Obadiah's story is a reminder that when opportunity reaches one student, its impact can extend far beyond the classroom — shaping a future, strengthening a family, and changing what feels possible.
